Death of Theddeus Stevens Thaddeus fitevens is dead. The public are not unprepared to hear of the event, for his health

SOOO SASH (all sizes) was long ago doubted that he would survive the present vacation of Congress. His disease was dropsy of the chest, but he had lately suffered from severe attacks of diarrhes, and although reported in an improved condition within a few days past, he experienced a relapse, and died in Washington at precisely 12 o'clock on Tues day night.

The announcement is brief, but to-day million are reading it and lamenting that "the Great Comcould not have been spared a little longer. A Washington correspondent, writing tly of Mr. Stevens, said :

longer. A Washington correspondent, writing recently of Mr. Stevens, said:

"He is one whose sayings will live long after him. His jewelled witticens will be set in many a speech, and gleam in many a Congress, when the brain which gave them birth has gone back to dust. But the old iton of the House is fighting his last battles. One who has fought as foliage and so bravely does not like to confess that he is at hast worsted by Time; that even he has found a conqueror. To have lived in the world, to have been with it, and of it, so long, to love it only to leave it, how hard! To a heart broken by its own burdens, death comes a heating and a consolation; but to a man who has sought to find the satisfaction of life in public spheres, whose activities have been expended on the issues of the age, while the great problems of his time remain uncolved, and the vast victories of the future yet unconsummated—to him death is as unwelcome as it is irremediable. Such a man has no time to die.

aw and taught in an academy at the same time noved to Lancaster; and in 1848 he was elected a irst Congress, also to the Thirty-second. In which he was Chairman of the Committee of Ways Means and also as Chairman of the Special Com mittee on the Pacific Railroad | He was a delegate to the Baltimore Convention in 1864. Reelected to the Thirty ninth Congress, serving as Chairman of the Committee of Appropriations as a member of the Committee on the death of President Lincoln, and as Chairman of the Committee on Postal Rathead to New York and also of that on Reconstruction. In the Fortieth Congress he was chosen by the House, one of the Managers to conduct the Impeachment trial of Thaddens Stevens had exceeded the allotte age of man, but enjoyed a constitution which seemed to defy the Tavages of Time During the temporary illness which followed his great speech on the reconstruction amendment to the Consti tution, he was asked what ailed him, and hereplied, "About seventy years, I believe." He subsequently said his liver was much affected, and when somebody binted that it was suspected his gall was touched, he said, "Yes, it was very bit. ter." His spirit was not bated, his sarcasm cut as keenly as ever, his wit flashed as brightly, his great intellect was in no wise dimmed,-but the will which never swerved, which always con quered and ruled men, was powerless to resis the continued pressure of pain and the increasing intirmity of age. Percefully and calmly the great eader has passed to the future life-his personal mission fully accomplished, his work performed His loss will be severely fell at this time, wher the best energies of our representative men ar so sorely needed. There are men of equal ability, but none who exerted so great a personal in fluence in Congress. True to his country steadtast in his convictions, irresistable in his cloquence, positive in his personality, resolute in his purposes, arbitrary in his apirit, he was a power in the nation, and no man will be so miss ed from Congress. His memory cannot pass away with his presence, nor his name with bis generation.

There is the constition to the lide of travel which flows towards Pleasautville. All day long from daylight in the morning to late at night there is a nearly continuous stream of vehicles on the road from Titusville. Within the pas lew days the wagons containing household goods and tamilies of women and children, have be come very numerous on the road, while the stage husiness seems steadily to ingrease. The demand for lots for building purposes is quite active, and there are very few good lots for store and offices remaining unoccupied. Mesars M C. Bebee, A. Holeman, S. Q. & A. W. Brown and other large property owners in the borough are laying out lots in different portions of the lown in every direction, and they are leased or bought about as fast as surveyed.

New streets are soon to be declared open by the borough authorities. In very few instances purposes or for residences.

it their proceedings on our first page. It was a good day's work for the Democracy. The plain truth is there is a family quarrel among the poli ticians of our party, and neither will give up its pretensions.

The Conferees took up Mr. Johnson, who had not been presented by either county in the Dis-trict. But they did so only after fruitless atempts to nominate any of the men before them. And they had a precedent for their course, in the nomination of Mr. Culver four years ago. They also claim to have made a nomination less obnoxious to projudice than that of either of the other gentlemen named for the position would have been, after the long and obstinate partisan struggle in which they had engaged.

And now our County Committee presume to treat the action of the Conference as of no bind ing effect upon the party. What jurisdiction the umittee have in the premises, we do not see. They did not appoint the Conferees. The action of the Conferees does not depend for its validity upon the subsequent ratification of the County Committee.

a proposition as that made—to submit the whole matter to the Republican party of this County for their decision—an offer cordially assented to by Mr. Johnson, should have been rejected by the Committee. It looks as if they were afraid to

As the matter stands, we shall probably have two Republican candidates in the field, and a Democrat will be returned from this District .-Mr. Johnson being the regular candidate of the Republican party in this District, by right and usage, will be supported by the rank and file of that party. In over ten years experience in political journalism, we have never yet bolted a regular Republican nomination, and cannot do

Congress, the responsibility must rest upon those who have formuted these dissensions, and are now attempting to hoodwink the people on false issues.

For the sake of the party and the country we should be glad if some ground of compromise were discovered, and as the proposition to submit the question of regularity to a vote of the people has been declined by Mr. Johnson's oponents, we see no way out of the difficulty, uness the whole matter is referred to the State Central Committee, the several candidates agreeing to abide its decision. No time should be iost. Less than two months will clapse before our election, and every consideration demands speedy and unreable adjustment of this trouble able from the fiel that this solar eclipse is to be of longer duration than these celipses are almo t ever known to be. The time of total obscuration is ordinarily but three or four minutes; while the ougest time possible is about eight minutes The total observation in the forthcoming eclipse pidly tapers towards the earth, will cover but small circle on the earth's surface, and coupse or four minutes. Again, if the moon, in the times from the earth, the point of her shadow will not reach the earth stall, and in consequence, those over whom this point passes would see the moon lying directly upon the sun int not sufficiently large to enver it, thus leav ing a blazen ring entirely around the mosen. This is called an annular eclipse. Finally, if, at the time of the eclipse, the moon is in its nearest po sition to the earth, its shadow will not only reach the earth, but the darkened circle produced will be from 250 to 300 miles in diameter, and in its notion along the earth, will occupy about eight of the shadow. So, in the eclipse on the 17th, the moon will be in a position almost the nearest to the earth which it ever occupies. Hence those who are privileged to witness this eclipse, will be lavored with an opportunity superior to

During these precious moments, a multitude of observers from various parts of the world will be most busily occupied—some of them having made long voyages for this very purpose. Let us hope that, after so much pains and expense, a "morning without clouds" shall welcome them to the great spectacle.
